

$10,000Worth of Clothing,
Shoes and Furnishings,
Ladies' Coats and Suits
to be nearly given awayCANVAS GLOVES10,000 pairs Canvas Gloves, value 10c, will go at only3c

A SALE WITHOUT A PARALLEL

THE

THE LEWIS CUT PRICE DEPARTMENT STORE

Clarksburg, W. Va.,

309 North Fourth Street

GLEN ELK

THE BIG SALE IS NOW IN FULL SWING, AND SUCH VALUE-GIVING AS YOU GET HERE IS A REVELATION TO THE PEOPLE OF HARRISON COUNTY.

PRICESWill undoubtedly reach the lowest limit in this unparalleled sale.HEAVY COTTON
SOXMen's heavy Cotton
Socks, will go at per pair
only3c

FIRST SALE OF ITS KIND THAT EVER HAPPENED

SWEATER COATSOne big lot of men's grey Sweater Coats, value $1.00,
will go at only.38c*MEN'S PANTSOne big lot of men's Pants.
Value, $2.00, will go at only85c*BOYS' KNEE PANTSOne lot of boys' Knee Pants, all sizes15c*POLICE SUSPENDERSMen's best Police Suspenders will go at only.12c*MEN'S HOSE1,000 pairs men's dress hose, value 15c, will go at only.6c

SALE NOW GOING ON

Come and let us prove to you the truth of our claims. Don't miss this great Bargain Carnival. Sale positively Started Friday, Nov. 26, 9 a. m.

We are forced to raise a large amount of ready cash. We know ordinary low prices will not move this large stock quick enough and so we have with one full swoop cut the life out of everything that bears a cost price. Loss of value of these goods does not enter our calculations. The one object is to get ready cash and we will offer you the opportunity of a lifetime to buy the best Clothing, Shoes, Furnishings, Ladies' Suits and Coats obtainable at the most ridiculously low prices that anybody now living ever heard of. It may be hard to believe that a big concern would sacrifice their entire stock at such low prices, but it is the real truth, and we merely ask you to come and test our statements.

Your Fare Paid to CLARKSBURG and home again, if you come within 20 miles and TRADE $10 worth

Every Day Extra Special BargainsAt 9 a. m. each morning we will sell for 10c some articles whose value is much more. It will pay you to come every day.10c

Different Articles Each Day

Look for the Black and White Signs Reading UNPARALLELED SALE

Lewis' Cut Price Department Store

309 N.

Fourth

Street

GLEN

ELK

Clarksburg, W. Va.

J. H. Goldstone, Adv. Mgr.

The Entire High Grade
Stock and Beautiful
Store Fixtures of Ellis & Co.
Was Sold by The United States Court to Satisfy
The Creditors.

NOTICE:---

This very high-grade stock, consisting of Ladies' and Misses' new Suits and Coats, Children's Coats, Waists, Skirts, Millinery, Ribbons and Ladies' high-class furnishings will be sold at retail—date of sale Thursday, Dec. 2, at 9 o'clock. No reasonable offer will be refused on each and every article. Entire stock and fixtures must go.

Sale Dec. 2, 9 O'clock.

Next to Union Bank Bldg.

CLARKSBURG

(Continued from page 1.)

and more a safe and propitious asylum for the unfortunate of other countries; to extend among us true and useful knowledge; to diffuse and establish habits of sobriety, order, morality and piety, and finally to impart all the blessings we possess or ask for ourselves to the whole family of mankind. In testimony whereof, I have caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed to these presents, and signed the same with my hand. Done at the city of Philadelphia the first day of January, 1795.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.
By the president:
Edw. Randolph.

The national Thanksgiving has been observed without intermission since 1863, each year the last Thursday in November.

How fitting that the whole nation should come together and lift our united voice of praise to him who is the giver of every good and perfect gift.

I believe it is the imperative duty of every one of us to praise. And I believe that no part of our religious duty is more neglected than the duty of giving thanks. There are many reasons for this neglect. 1. We are extremely selfish creatures; and to praise means that we must be shaken out of our selfishness. The more we praise others the greater will be our appreciation of others, for we will be continually looking for something in them to praise. The more we praise God, the less we think of self and the more we see for which to praise Him.

2. We overrate our own importance. We are too much inclined to leave God out of our calculations. We have narrowly averted some danger, perhaps. Are we not inclined to say "it was due to my carefulness?" Do not we fall to recognize the special providence of God in these things? Or, we find ourselves in the possession of great wealth. Do we not reason that it was "our tact, economy or business sagacity?" Many, many times you have heard of "self made men." One wiser than I said "the only objection I have every found to the 'self made man' is that he is always too proud of his maker." We read in Luke's gospel the twelfth chapter and beginning with the seventeenth verse of a man whom the Lord had blessed with much of this world's goods. He looked the situation over and talked the matter over to himself thus "what shall I do; because I have no room where to bestow my fruits? This will I do; I will pull down my barns and build greater; and there will I bestow all my fruits and my goods. And I will say unto my soul, soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry." This was a very important man in his own estimation. "My goods, my barns, my soul." "Me, my, mine." But the narrative indicates that God put another sort of an estimate upon him. He said: "Thou fool." Why? Because he had overrated his own importance—he had left God entirely out of his calculations. He was void of gratitude. In whose ground did he raise his fruit? Whose sunshine and rain gave it life? Who gave him the brains to plan so wisely? It was very beautifully said by one of the speakers at the recent laymen's convention in this city that "God did not give Abraham a deed to the land of Canaan, but that he only gave it to him for a possession." It is God's land, God's sunshine and rain, God's blessings that enable us to work with our hands and brains and to Him should be all the glory.

3. We do not look at things in their right proportion. We too often let the sorrow of a day destroy the joy of years. We stand by the grave of our loved one whom God has loaned to us for ten, twenty, forty or sometimes fifty years and find fault with Him because He has taken them away from us. Should we not rather not look up through our tears and thank God that they have been with us so long? Is it not a fact also, that we should thank God for the dark days? For out of them come some of our sweetest blessings. Cowper says:

"God moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform;
He plants his foot steps in the sea,
And rides upon the storm.
Deep in unfathomable mines of never failing skill
He treasures up his bright designs,
And works his sovereign will.
Ye fearful saints, fresh courage take,
The clouds we so much dread
Are big with mercy, and shall break
In blessings over your head.
Judge not the Lord by feeble sense,
But trust him for his grace;
Behind a frowning providence
He hides a smiling face."

Job's wife said to him when the clouds hung low "doest thou still retain thine integrity? Curse God and die." But he, with an implicit faith in the God whom he served replied "thou speakest as one of the foolish women speaketh. What! Shall we receive good at the hand of God and shall we not receive evil? In all this did not Job sin with his lips." He doubtless believed that "all things work together for good to them that love God."

Let us not forget that "sorrow may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning." We will never be able to get great joy out of the dark hours until we relate these things to two worlds.

I once knew an old woman who had been blind for eight years. She was, at the time I knew her, totally helpless, and had been so for six years. She lived, or existed, in a home of equalor. The house was only eight by ten feet, having been built for a temporary shack for railroad hands. There was only one room. This room was used for kitchen, dining room, bed room, living room and work shop for her husband who was compelled by her afflictions to remain with her practically all of the time, and made brooms, baskets and the like by which he eked out for them a bare existence.

I visited this dingy home one afternoon and had a long visit with this good woman who had for years been a consecrated Christian. Before I left she asked me to sing and pray for her. I did so. I shall not forget to my dying day how this bed ridden woman rejoiced and praised God for his goodness to her. Tears of joy ran down from her sightless eyes over her macerated face as she talked of the place prepared for the finally faithful where there is no more sickness, pain and death, and I went away from that little shack a good deal nearer heaven, because I had come into contact with a soul who looked through this vale of tears into the next world. A woman, who though old and ignorant about many things, saw things in their right proportion.

Shall we not pray that we may just for the next few minutes get these things out of our way that we may worthily magnify God's name for the many blessings which He has vouchsafed unto us?

First, I desire to call our attention to our personal blessings. 1. Spiritual blessings. (a) Open Bible. Perhaps the greatest blessing that has come to us in Christian America is the open Bible. This blessed book which may be found in almost every home and which is accessible to every hungry soul. Many of our brothers in other lands have not the open Bible. They are starving for its life-giving words. Let us thank God as never before for His blessed holy word. (b) Christian homes. There is perhaps no people in the world who attach as much importance to the word "home" as Americans. Our Christian homes have meant much to our American civilization. Let us thank God for our American Christian homes! (c) A complete salvation. I thank God for a salvation that saves and keeps saved. Saves, not only from something, but saves also to something. A salvation that will save all classes and conditions of men. There are no "hard cases" with God.

3. Temporal blessings. (a) Health. What a blessing is health! Wonder if we are as grateful for it as we should be? A few days ago I visited a blind man. It was a beautiful balmy autumn afternoon. The sun was shining and all the world seemed alight with the goodness and blessing of God. I said to him "this

(Continued on page 5, 2nd sec.)

QUALITY established a reputation for the Florshiem Shoe, but style is equally prominent in its make-up. You will find that a pair of Florshiem Shoes on your feet will bring you satisfaction that will make the price seem small in comparison.

Put us to the test of giving you the proper style and size of this popular make.

SPEARS SHOE Co.,
Fourth Street

A Bald Head Only Indicates that the scalp has been neglected. We recommend that you use
Rexall Hair Tonic
Kills the germ that causes the hair to fall out and will keep the scalp healthy.